

The state of Indiana is handling this problem just fine. I enjoy having a meal without the phone ringing and trying to sell me something I am not interested. Leave things the way they are.